The Deciding Factor

Your selection of a bank is naturally influenced by its reputation for safety and conservatism, by the standing which it enjoys in the community.

But, when these qualifications are met, the courteous and friendly helpfulness of its service becomes the deciding factor.

In The Farmers National Bank of Appomattox you find recognized safety and conservatism in policy and practice—and you also find that atmosphere of cordial welcome, and that satisfying personal attention which make your contact with the bank most truly satisfying.

THE LONG ARM OF THE NATION

The strength of every nation is measured by its sea power. In war the navy is the deciding factor. In peace it is the most powerful insurance against future war. Little-known facts of intense interest concerning our navy are told in one of the series of stories about Our Government which we are sending out each month.

Billy Sunday Club at Appomattox

Last evening at the Presbyterian church here the Billy Sunday club of Lynchburg conducted a beautiful service. The singing was especially good and as one after another related personal experiences the congregation became interested, and when the invitation to come forward was given quite a number went forward and shook hands with the speakers. Jim Scott led the meeting and his earnest efforts for the Master made a profound impression on his hearers. With this band of red blooded Lynchburgers the territory surrounding the city must soon yield and become a part of the city of Zion.

Those present were: Mesdames. J. M. Otey, Frank Jones T. M. Armstead, M. T. Tanner, C. H. Tublett, and Messrs. J D Moose, N. H Morgan, B. P. Thornhill, Jr., Jno. M. Otey, Jr., G E Vaughan, W E. Blackwell--Fleshman

At Rolling Hill, Va., on Saturday, Nov. 25th, Mr. James Leonard Blackwell and Miss Ella Lousinda Fleshman were the contracting parties in a very pretty marriage.

Through an aisle of evergreens the bridal party passed until they stood under an arch way of evergreen, where the ceremony was performed. During the ceremony the piano was softly played. Lighted candles variously arranged added to the decorations.

The groom had as his best man Mr. Earnest Fergusou. Mr. Oscar Fleshman and Misses Rosa and Bessie Fleshman constituted the bridal party.

The Misses Fleshman were very prettily attired in white organdy and carried large white chrysanthemums. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie James Fleshman. Rev. H. Parlett East was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple left immediately for a trip north; on their return they will make their home in Appomattox county. Many beautiful presents were received.

What The State Does For The Farmer

THIRD LESSON IN VIRGINIA GOVERNMENT AND CITIZENSHIP.

(By Jno. Garland Pollard.)

The College of William and Mary is offering to our readers free tuition in its correspondence course in Virginia Government and Citizenship. Men and women of all ages may be enrolled by sending their names to Box 266, Williamsburg, Va.

While the constant and steady trend of population in the United States has been from the country to the city, Virginia remains an agricultural state. Three-fourths of her population live in the country. Virginia has 160,000 farm owners, and last year the total value of her land, crops, live-stock, etc., minerals, forest products, fish and oysters was far up toward the two billion mark. In the last ten years the value of our crops has jumped from about ninety million to nearly three hundred million, and the value of our land per acre from $20 to $40. Only two states, California and North Carolina, have a great crop value per acre. In 1920, we were the largest producers of early Irish potatoes, the third largest producer of tobacco and the fourth largest producer of peanuts and apples.

While 28 states have more acres under cultivation, there are only twenty ahead of us in the total value of all crops. Virginia has the honor of having within her borders the two richest agricultural counties in the United States—Accomac and Northampton.

The advancements of our agricultural interests are committed to a Board of Agriculture and Immigration, and the Commissioner. The Board consists of ten members appointed by the Governor from each of the ten congressional districts, while the Commissioner is elected by the people.

Agencies.

The department has charge of the inspection of fertilizer and seed, the collection of tobacco statistics, the supervision of commission merchants handling farm products, the conduct of state lime grinding plants, the distribution of Anti-hog-cholera serum and of Nitrogen Culture, and conducts a Division of Markets and the inspection of dairies and food.

Inspection Of Fertilizer.

The great opportunity for deception in the manufacture and sale of commercial fertilizer has long been recognized by state governments, and Virginia has been foremost in protecting her farmers against this species of fraud. The law requires the registration of all brands of commercial fertilizers and a statement of their guaranteed analysis to be made in the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture. The names of the brands cannot be changed, nor can the constituent elements of the fertilizer be varied, without the consent of the Commissioner. The department keeps ten inspectors employed in the field. The penalties collected last year for deficiencies in the guaranteed analysis of the fertilizers amounted to $5,713.85 and 730 tons of fertilizer were declared not up to the standard.

Division Of Markets.

This division collects and keeps in readily accessible form all market information. It also encourages cooperative marketing in live-stock, grading and marketing wool, facilitates and speeds transportation and promotes standard grades in the marketing of fruits and vegetables. It also publishes in the regular monthly bulletin of the department, "for sale" and "want" lists which enables farmers to sell directly to each other all kinds of live-stock, poultry, seed, farm machinery and equipment.

Worthless Seed.

One way in which the Department has rendered a specially valuable service to the farmer is in protecting him against inferior and worthless seed. This species of fraud has been specially disastrous to farmers because by it they are not only defrauded in the sale of the seed but lose their labor and the use of their land. The State has one inspector of fertilizer and seed for each congressional district in the State, and maintains a Division of Botany, with a staff of seed analysts.

Commission Merchants Law.

The farmer is further protected by the requirement that the commission merchant handling farm products must give bond in the sum of $2,500. The law also provides for the investigation and adjustment by the Commissioner of all complaints against commission merchants. This law has the effect of keeping dishonest men out of the commission business, and also in many cases has operated to satisfy the farmer that his suspicions of his commission merchant have been not well founded. It has therefore lead to a better understanding and a greater degree of confidence between farmers and commission merchants.

The Banner Counties.

It is interesting to know that Accomac leads the State in the annual value of its crops, that Augusta leads in the value of its live-stock, Fairfax in dairy products, Rockingham in poultry, Highland in sheep, Southampton in hogs, Scott in oats, Roanoke in [illegible] and Pittsylvania in tobacco.

What It Costs.

Excluding the $240,000 which the State appropriated for this year for the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, the State is to spend during the current year the total sum of $877,522.80 for the advancement of agriculture. In round numbers this includes $178,000 for conducting demonstration work in connection with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, $50,000 for the Experiment Station at Blacksburg, $48,000 for dairy and food inspection, $28,000 for collecting and disseminating market information, $19,000 for furnishing protection from crop pests, $21,000 for protecting live-stock from disease, $24,000 for the Virginia Truck Experiment farm at Norfolk, $37,000 for other expenses of administering the affairs of the department, and $50,000 for the Agricultural High Schools.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative power of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Appomattox like a few other towns of its size in the Tobacco Belt is having Greatness thrust upon it by Cooperative Marketing. For years the larger towns and tobacco markets such as Danville and Lynchburg have overshadowed the smaller towns near them with their big talk or higher prices for tobacco on the big markets but today that advantage has gone forever and the farmer knows that he will get as much for his tobacco right at home, his nearest marketing point, as he will anywhere else and the tobacco is coming to the smaller town. It it estimated by conservative men that ten pounds of tobacco will be marketed at Appomattox where one was before. You know what this means—A bigger better Appomattox. You can't stop it. Fine schools churches, high class people, bound to double in five years Make Appomattox your home. Band Concert, $25 00 in free prizes.

Nervous Break-Down

MRS. ANNIE LANGE, of R.F.D. 1, Burlington, Tex., writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous breakdown of some kind. . . I was very weak and so nervous. I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, trembly, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly. I began the use of Cardui to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I knew of other cases that had been helped by its use. I soon saw a great improvement, so I kept it up. I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Am now able to do all my housework and a great deal of work besides."

If you are weak, run-down, nervous and suffer from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it helped Mrs. Lange and has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years.

Ask for, and insist on, Cardui.
